

HENRY A. KISSINGER

November 10, 2009

Dear Bill:

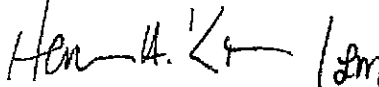

Your generous comments on my appearance at the IEA Ministerial meeting last month are much appreciated. In turn, I want to thank you for the important behind-the-scenes role you played in making the meeting such a success.

The issues raised in your thoughtful op-ed piece certainly merit wide publication. But it seems to me it is a message best broadcast under Nabuo Tanaka's name. I understand the IEA is soon to release a revised downward forecast of global energy consumption. An op-ed by the head of the IEA appears to me to be a logical follow-up to this important development.

I will be following the IEA's activities with keen interest. And the prospect of a continuing association with you and your colleagues pleases me.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,
